PLAYERS GUILD - THURSDAY, JANUARY 16

The year is off to an intriguing start as Roseanna Bellino-Strickland directs some thought-provoking drama in a new Reader's Theatre on Thursday, January 16 at 7:30 PM in the AR. Actors will read scenes and sketches from these famous plays: The Glass Menagerie, Inherit the Wind, Come Back, Little Sheba, and The Matchmaker. In Tennessee Williams' 1944 Pulitzer Prize-winning Glass Menagerie, the author tells the story of a family in St Louis during The Great Depression based on Williams, his mentally fragile sister, not to mention his lively and attention-seeking mother. You will probably remember that with Inherit the Wind, the authors Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee based their play loosely on the 1925 Scopes "Monkey" Trial in which a Tennessee high school science teacher was accused of teaching Charles Darwin's theory of evolution which was against the law in Tennessee at that time. Come Back, Little Sheba by William Inge is a 1950 play which focuses on marital frustration that "erupts in violence" particularly when a young female student moves in as a boarder around the same time that the family's dog is lost. The Matchmaker, a 1954 work of Thornton Wilder, is a re-write of his 1938 The Merchant of Yonkers. The revision included boosting Dolly Levi to a main character who is hired as a matchmaker by a local merchant Horace Vandergelder. Then the merriment ensues, and everyone ends up with a perfect match. The cast includes Rosanna Brown, Rich Dawson, Melanie Eastman, Julius Hirsch, Denise Pepper, Lorie Richards, Mike Sternfeld, and Macey Zarit. The director is Ms. Bellino-Strickland; the Assistant Director is Judie Mc Askill while Joyce Belcher will produce.

LET'S DANCE – SATURDAY, JANUARY 18

LV MOVIE NIGHT - MONDAY, JANUARY 20
